Welcome

A letter to our families

Dear families,

Thank you for considering Little Learners Discovery Lab. If you're homeschooling a 5-, 6-, or 7-year-old, you already know the tricky part: your child needs other kids, new ideas, and a teacher who can see exactly where they are, while you still set the pace at home.

That's what these two mornings are for.

I've spent over 20 years teaching children to read and think, and I've seen it over and over: kids learn best when they feel known. That's why this group stays at four. I'll know who needs a nudge, who needs a challenge, and who just needs a minute, and I plan around it.

Every Tuesday and Thursday, your child will read, build, experiment, move, and create alongside friends, with literacy built on Science of Reading-aligned instruction. I hope they come home with stories to tell and a little more confidence than they walked in with.

I'd love to meet your family.

WHAT YOUR CHILD WILL DO

Learning that feels like play

Young children learn by doing. Each morning mixes focused reading time with hands-on discovery, movement, and making, so your child is busy, curious, and building real skills.

● Literacy & Language

Stories, phonics games, vocabulary, and early reading and writing, built on Science of Reading-aligned instruction.

● Math Thinking

Counting, patterns, shapes, and number sense explored with hands-on manipulatives and games.

● STEM & Science

Experiments, building challenges, and plenty of "what happens if...?" questions.

● Creative Projects

Art, making, and problem-solving, often done together with the group.

● Friendship & Teamwork

Taking turns, sharing ideas, and using kind words, practiced a little every single day.

● Movement & Mindfulness

Stretching, movement games, and calm moments to reset before the next adventure.

Why only four children?

Because small changes everything.

- ♥ Every child gets real attention, not a few minutes at the end.
- ♥ I can meet each child where they are and adjust as we go.
- ♥ Friendships form quickly in a group this size, and shy children have room to speak up.

A TYPICAL MORNING

Our Daily Routine

TUESDAYS & THURSDAYS · 10:00 AM – 12:00 PM

- 10:00–10:10 Morning Welcome & Connection
Feelings check-in, conversation, and a cooperative warm-up so everyone starts the day feeling settled and included.
 - 10:10–10:35 Literacy & Language Exploration
Storytelling, phonics games, vocabulary, and age-appropriate reading activities.
 - 10:35–10:45 Movement & Mindful Moments
Stretching, movement games, and emotional-awareness activities to wiggle out the energy and refocus.
 - 10:45–11:20 STEM, Science & Math Discovery
Hands-on science, building challenges, and early math exploration.
 - 11:20–11:50 Creative Projects & Collaboration
Art, problem-solving, creative projects, and teamwork.
 - 11:50–12:00 Reflection & Closing Circle
Share discoveries, celebrate progress, and get ready to head home.

The schedule can flex based on the day's projects and the children's needs.

Meet Ms. Amanda

Amanda Paez

FOUNDER & LEAD EDUCATOR

I've taught for over 20 years, and my specialty is helping children become confident readers using Science of Reading-aligned instruction.

Teach Inspire Transform was named Best Tutoring Provider in both Hollywood and Hallandale (2023 and 2024). Those awards came from families, and they're why I keep my groups small and personal.
